Creed: Cardinal Giulio Bevilacqua (1881-1915)

I believe in God and I believe in man as the image of God. I believe in men, in their thinking, in their exhausting work which has made them to be what they are.
I believe in life as joy and as tenacity:

Not a short-term loan threatened by death, but a gift with a purpose.

I believe in life as an unlimited possibility of elevation and sublimation.

I believe in joy; the joy of every season, of every stopping place, of every dawn, of every sunset, of every face, of every ray of light, which comes from the mind,
from the senses, from the heart.

I believe in the possibility of a great human family as Christ wishes it;
an exchange of all the achievements of the spirit and of all hands in peace.

I believe in myself in the ability that God has bestowed on me, because I can experience the greatest of all joys - that of giving and of giving myself.

Prayers of the Faithful:

John E. O'Brien

Offertory Procession:

Offertory Hymn:

"Take my Hands"

Take my hands and make them as your own,
And use them for your kingdom here on earth,
Consecrate them to your care
Anoint them for your service where
You may need your Gospel to be shown.

Take my hands they speak now for my heart
And by their action they will show their love
Guard them on their daily course
Be their strength and guiding force
To ever serve the Trinity above.

Take my hands I give them to you Lord,
Prepare them for the service of your name
Open them to human needs
And by their love they'll sow your seed
So all may know the love and hope you gave.

Holy, holy, holy

Father who are in heaven, hallowed be thy name,
Thy kingdom come, thy will be done
